

Have Your Say: How will contractors cope with agency workers legislation?

How do you think the Agency Workers legislation will change the way we work?

It looks more and more likely that some form of the legislation will become law in the UK in the next two years. We will all be obliged to take vacation pay, sick pay, etc.

Certainly this will affect how much we earn. But will the contractors who are most in demand manage to maintain their income levels? If companies want to work with us, will they still pay more? Will we still be able to enjoy a flexible lifestyle?

How much of what we treasure in contracting will be lost because of this legal change? Let us know what you think?

Published: Monday, February 25, 2008

Tweet

© 2011 All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or in part without permission is prohibited. Please see our copyright notice. If you want to use any content you have seen on this site then please request our media pack and ask for details of our Content Licencing Service.

Add Your Comment

Readers Comments...

This article has 1 comment.

“

”

Recommended by 0 readers.

Sign in to recommend comments

 Comment on this article

Add Your Comment

Also of interest...

Related News:

- House supports UK contracting industry in debate on agency workers
- CBI wants assurances on agency workers directive commission
- Agency workers directive commission proposal threatens all contractors
- Brown expected to change position on agency workers directive

Related Guides:

- Contractors and employment rights: a huge can of worms
- When contractors dispute working hours with clients

Related Calculators:

- Agency Workers Directive Calculator

ABCe verified website - last audit confirmed 130,682 monthly unique visitors

© Copyright 2011 Byte-Vision Limited UK. All rights reserved Copyright notice